

GP TRAINER WORKSHOP: SAVING TIME AND IMPROVING TEACHING

THURSDAY 4 MARCH | 6.30PM - 9PM
(catering will be provided - RSVP Thursday 25 February)

VENUE: Health Building (Level 3, Building 5)
The Atrium, Bond University main Varsity Campus

This workshop is for GP trainers of Registrars and Medical Students who wish to develop their skills. This workshop will provide GPs with opportunities for interaction and discussion using 4 table based small group activities relevant to clinical GP medical education.

Come along and join a community of Clinical Medical Educators, who are able to integrate clinical care and teaching and who we deeply value.

Activities will assist GPs to

- Improve their feedback skills in a variety of settings
- Integrate teaching and telehealth
- Judge clinical competencies in practice and use EPA
- Save time when teaching in your clinical practice

Facilitators:

- Dr Jane Smith- Head of General Practice, Bond University
- Dr Alireza Ahmadvand- Lead in General Practice Gold Coast, Griffith University
- Dr Scott Preston- Acting Associate Director of Medical Education and District Medical Education Coordinator Gold Coast, GPTQ
- Dr Anne Spooner- General Practice Medical Educator, Bond University

GPTQ supervisors will earn 2 supervisor credit points by attending this workshop.

Due to timeframes, RACGP CPD points have not been pre-approved for this event, though GPs may use this Workshop to contribute to their self-re-corded activities.
